Indecent Exposure Suspect Arrested

Riverside, CA - On July 18, 2008, at 5:38pm, a man followed a young woman while she was walking on Mount Rubidoux. She felt uncomfortable and began walking down the mountain when she noticed the man began to chase her as he attempted to expose himself. The woman ran away and asked a witness to call police.

Officers from the Riverside Police Department arrived in a short time and while driving the mountain roads, spotted the suspect. He was detained and identified by the woman and a witness. The suspect, Jesse Wheatley, a 32-year-old white male, was arrested and later found to be a registered sex offender with similar prior convictions. He was booked into the Robert Presley Detention Center on several felony charges, including a parole violation.
